GOEHNER Expertise

Goehner Industries provides wooden packaging material that meets the standards of the International Standard for Phytosanitary Measures (ISPM) across the global community. Being certified through an accredited agency, Goehner Industries is able to not only package products for export, but stamp all wood packaging material destined for any location around the world.

The company's knowledge of wood characteristics, weight distribution, packaging principals, and export wood requirements will ensure safe arrival of packaged products around the world.

The company's design team works closely with you to guarantee your shipment is going to withstand the harshest of conditions. No matter the size, large or small, Goehner Industries can design and build a container that is going to ensure safe transit of your product for both domestic and export shipments.

Goehner Industries provides softwood and hardwood lumber products, including dimensional SPF, custom cut stock, and heat treating services. The use of our re-sawing equipment allows us to machine a broad range of dimensions to our customer's specifications.
